Wylinda,
Being the first to sign your aerial, I decided to write on the front cover. (Isn't that smart) We didn't really become friends until this year, but I'm glad we did. You're pretty good to have around! I hope we always remain friends and share happy memories in the years to come.
Good Luck & Success Always!

These expressions reflect something different, special, and unique to each of us—the laughter of friends, the quiet of tender moments, the cheerful "hello" as we began our day, and the many responsibilities that we assumed as we progressed in school. Every achievement, activity, and guiding word is recalled as we realize that these years are of great importance to us. It is here our foundation is established.

1. Tricia's caught in one of her more serious moods. 2. Gregg and Darrell appear to be happy over the way the JV are playing their game. 3. Amy's looking pretty depressed after being backed into a corner. 4. Randy, Student Council President, goes "in cognito" as "Joe Cool". 5. Annette MUST be looking at Blair!! 6. Tell us what's so funny, Tilmon? 7. Susan tries to be coy for the camera.

For students, tanned and rested from three months of summer vacation, the beginning of a new school year promised to give students long-lasting memories of Teague High. A whirlwind of activities were soon underway. Band members and football players were having long, hard practices even before school began. Football was "king" and the Teague Lion Band showed their support at halftime on Friday nights. Spirit grew with each frantic pep rally, exciting game, and well-deserved victory of the Lions. Clubs were organized, and the Student Council was soon plunging into new projects. In spite of the September heat, we settled down to the routine of classes and were soon working on class projects and studying for exams.

FOOTBALL, STUDIES, FUN—START AGAIN

1. The Lion Band performs at halftime for one of the first games of football season. 2. "Hey, Baby!" 3. Cheryl kicks off the practice of the halftime show at early morning rehearsal. 4. Kelly asks Diane for a quarter to buy some cotton candy. 5. John and Karen find time for romance at a Jr. High football game. 6. Stephen chooses Coke over Pepsi. 7. C'mon Ginger, give Kala your order.

50'S—"THAT'LL BE THE DAY"

This elaborate sign was drawn by Lyn James. Lyn drew ALL the signs, and the cheerleaders painted them.

Don't Blair and Stacy make a cute 50's couple?

Patti, Mandi, and Kim are having a great time on 50's Day!

A HOMECOMING TO REMEMBER

CLAUS ENCOUNTERS

1. Alicia, Marda, Anthony, and Annette combined their efforts to make Mrs. Stevenson's door a success. 2. And of course, everyone knows that Snoopy is always a winner! 3. Mr. Chandler proudly shows off his door. 4. Marda will admit that anyone gets tired after tying 300 bows on carnations! 5. No David, ALL those Valograms aren't for you! 6. Judy types Valograms under Terri's supervision. 7. Mrs. Johnson, Sereatha, and Tricia work hard making labels for carnations.

DOOR CONTEST WINNERS

Traditional:
(1) Mrs. Stevenson—Bookkeeping
(2) Mrs. Hicks—Speech
(3) Coach Lowe—English I

Contemporary:
(1) Mr. Brown—Aerial Staff
(2) Mr. Chandler—Trig
(3) Coach Smith—Driver's Ed.

CHRISTMAS . . . That Freshman door doesn't count! . . . Why not? . . . Because that's the inside of the room, not the door . . . Well, it still looks good . . . Hey, the drama class has a program . . . Good! Anything to get out of second period . . . I just can't concentrate on school when it's this close to Christmas . . . I'm ready for a vacation! . . . Just a few more hours . . . I'm glad we don't have homework . . . Ringgg! . . . Ahh! Relief for two wonderful weeks . . . I wish somebody had hung mistletoe in the halls!

VALENTINE'S DAY . . . I wonder who I'll get Valograms from this year . . . The one's I send always sound so dumb, I can never think of anything witty to say . . . I stayed up until 3 a.m. this morning trying to type a zillion Valograms! . . . A zillion!? . . . Well, maybe I'm exaggerating a bit, but not much . . . I fell asleep on my typewriter, that's why I have all these little marks on my face . . . I think Valentine's Day is so romantic . . . Yeah, and the carnations are so pretty . . . You'll never guess who sent me one . . .

When HEE HAW came to students at THS, they were in for a BIG SURPRISE! There was hollerin' and stompin', yellin' and clappin', and don't forget DANCIN'! Some proved how great dancers they were by doing the Cotton-Eyed Joe.

If you are a ham, this was surely the time to be the center of attention! Some of the teachers even proved to be really talented!

By the way—it was also a good way to get out of second period!

COUNCIL HOSTS FOOD FOR FUNDS AND FACULTY

A chicken spaghetti supper was held in March to raise money to go to the state convention for Student Council members.

In May, a luncheon was given in appreciation to the teachers for their hard work.

The Student Council prepared these meals as part of their many services to the school.

AWARDS

On May 23 the annual awards assembly was held to honor and recognize those doing outstanding work in and out of the class. Awards were given for excellence in academic work along with awards that were presented for willingness to help and cooperate with students and faculty. All the awards presented are too numerous to list here, but the couple who spent the time and effort to go that extra mile deserve a big thank-you.

OFFICERS: Melissa Cockerham, reporter; Karri Posey, secretary; Greg Craig, vice-president; Darrell Brown, president.

The Senior Class Officers had a very hard job to fulfill this year. They were responsible for choosing invitations that would please everybody, planning and making arrangements for the prom, writing class prophecies, and helped get the class song, flower, colors, and saying chosen. They had a big responsibility, and they did very well. Their work helped make this year a year full of good memories for their classmates.

Marda, Sereatha, Alicia, and Karri really enjoyed themselves at the Senior Banquet.

SENIORS LEAD BUSY LIVES

Blair works hard as Band President!

The Seniors had a lot to keep them busy their last year of high school. Besides the usual routine of classes and activities, the Seniors started preparing for that last walk down the aisle as a THS student since the beginning of the school year. They had all been going full force from the time portraits were taken in the fall to the time when they turned in the cap and gowns after commencement. But, if you ask any one of them if it was worth it, the answer will be yes.

Greg goes to Six Flags on the class trip.

Don't mess with me; I mean it!

THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1979

Song: "We May Never Pass This Way Again"

Motto: "From here to eternity . . ."

Colors: Royal Blue and Silver

Flower: Orchid

GRADUATION . . . I hope my cap doesn't fall off in there . . . With my luck, as I go to get my diploma, Mr. Pick will stand up and say that I failed my Civics' final, and so I can't graduate . . . Is my cap on straight? . . . Let me take some pictures of you . . . When do we stand up? . . . I hope I don't trip when we march in . . . What are you doing after graduation? . . . Okay, get in line . . . Remember to throw your cap up at the end . . .

"The cynics were silent, the clowns weren't smiling."

Graduation is like leaving behind a whole life. From the time I was six years old I've been getting up at 6:30 and going to school. Everything I did revolved around school and the people I encountered there. School was the reason for most of my joys and most of my sorrows.

The world outside of school became more of a blur as I got more involved in beating Fairfield, solving the equation for X, and finding out what was happening in town for those two glorious weekend nights that helped us get through the rest of the week.

Then, all at once you are standing with your class in alphabetical order, and you wonder where the time went. Then you suddenly realize that your high school days are over and that you are about to enter anotherphase of life—the adult world of college, work, or marriage, and this time it would be all alone without that classmate that you went with from Sallie Mounger into junior high, and the on to high school. This time you are on your own to make decisions that before were based on what everybody else was doing. Never before had I felt such mixed emotions; it was a feeling of gladness with feelings of emptiness and of being alone.

The cynics were silent, and the clowns weren't smiling. It was as if time had caught up with us, and we knew it. I realized it wasn't the end of my life or the end of friendships that had grown through the years, but it was the end of our class as a whole, who had worked and played together through some of the hardest times of life. It was the end of rivalries and of shared laughter and tears. It was the end of the class of 1979.

Ginger's thoughts can't be on the book.

The Sophomores are the "in-between" class at THS. If anything needs to be done, the sophomores will do it because they are the class who works the hardest to please. To Sophomores, being the "in-between" class isn't easy—they aren't picking out invitations, choosing rings, or trying out their first year of high school. To them, it seems like they will be Sophomores forever, so they look forward to next year.

Gail's happy over the outcome of the game.

In September, ninty-seven of them entered into the world of high school. It was an event the upperclassmen, or the "veterans" of high school could have done without, but it had to happen. This was the arrival of the Freshmen, and they came with mixed feelings. Excitement and anxiety, but mostly anticipation. In less than a year, these students proved themselves to be responsible students, so now, they too are "veterans".

O&W PRINTS PAPER

The Orange & White Staff won the I.L.P.C. award of achievement in journalism in recognition of outstanding achievements and progress in journalism among school newspapers in its classification for this year. The O&W has recently tried a new way of printing the paper. The staff types all of the stories and sends them off to be printed. The new method is an attempt to improve the school paper.

MR. BROWN SPEAKS ON AERIAL ISSUE

As the saying goes—"History repeats itself." When school ended last May, our AERIAL was short of completion. The summer progressed with promise of completion soon, as not much seemed to be lacking to finish the yearbook. However, when school started this year and graduated members of last year's staff went off to college, this year's staff found there was still quite an enormous amount of work to be done—and redone—on the book. So—with determination—the staff got busy and completed last year's annual. In a way, this was a good learning experience. We have learned correct procedures and discipline on making a yearbook. Also, we have learned to keep on schedule, thus making "putting out a yearbook" lots of fun. No one has griped, but all have worked freely and willingly. So—this year's staff will make a new saying—"History will not repeat itself". A big special thanks goes to co-editors Kathy Glud, Carrie Gottlieb; assistant editor, Mark Moore; Patsy Copeland, Peggy Copeland, Rita Allen, Diane Elrod, Lyn James, Sheila Day and Kim Hodges. These make up this year's staff and are "on fire" to make the AERIAL the best yearbook in Texas.

COUNCIL ACTIVE IN '78-'79

The Teague High School Student Council is an organization established to improve the school's condition and represent the student body, the school itself, and the community. The council is composed of five officers, four representatives from each class, and organizational presidents representing the other school organizations. In addition to sponsoring annual suppers and Teacher Appreciation Day, the Council is very active on both district and state level.

The Council attends two district conventions each year, where this spring, they were elected to serve as Second Vice-President for District 6. This fall they will host a convention for about 900 council members across their district. The officers also went to the Texas Association of Student Councils State Convention this May, where much valuable information was obtained to help with next year's council.

AND THE BAND PLAYED ON

Before school had even started, the Lion Band was practicing to prepare for football season. Under the leadership of Cheryl Snipes, drum major, and Mr. Frank Elrod, director, the band performed half-time shows that were enjoyed by all. Twirlers Diane Elrod, Tammy Howell, Karol Keils, and Robin Wilks also entertained the audiences.

During pep rallies, sounds of the "Fight Song" and "The Alma Mater" filled the gym. With the band playing, spirit soared sky-high!

Entering the marching contest in November, the band received a third division rating, and at the spring concert and sight-reading contest, they placed a two in each category.

The entire year the band stayed busy with parades and ensemble contests held in different towns. A number of band members made the all-district band.

The Lion Band held many fund-raising events for its annual trip. The band went to Amarillo, Texas, where they performed on stage, and enjoyed themselves at Palo Duro Canyon.

Melissa Cockerham reigned as band sweetheart, while Blair Halbert served as band beau.

COME JOIN THE ACT

The 1978-79 thespians presented several plays this year. Each student tried hard on his part. There was much time involved, and extra work outside of school was required. Mrs. Gayle Smith acted as director. She did a wonderful job with her students and found something for each to do in every play. The play entitled "INFANCY" won first in district along with Fairfield's play. The thespians went on to regional where they were defeated in contest, but were victorious in their achievements for this year.

Basketball is a physical sport taken part in by the true athletes of Teague High School. It is a game of strength, skill, and endurance, and the true athletes are those who have the desire to play and are willing to give their best in both practices and in games. 3. Back Row: Tim Davis, Tim Hedrick, Troy James, Randy Johnson, Michael Evans, Keith Meredith. Front Row: Kenneth Tatum, Robbie Brown, Mark Hargrove, Henry Hall, Stephen Terry.
4. David Dunn in the Pole Vaulting competition.

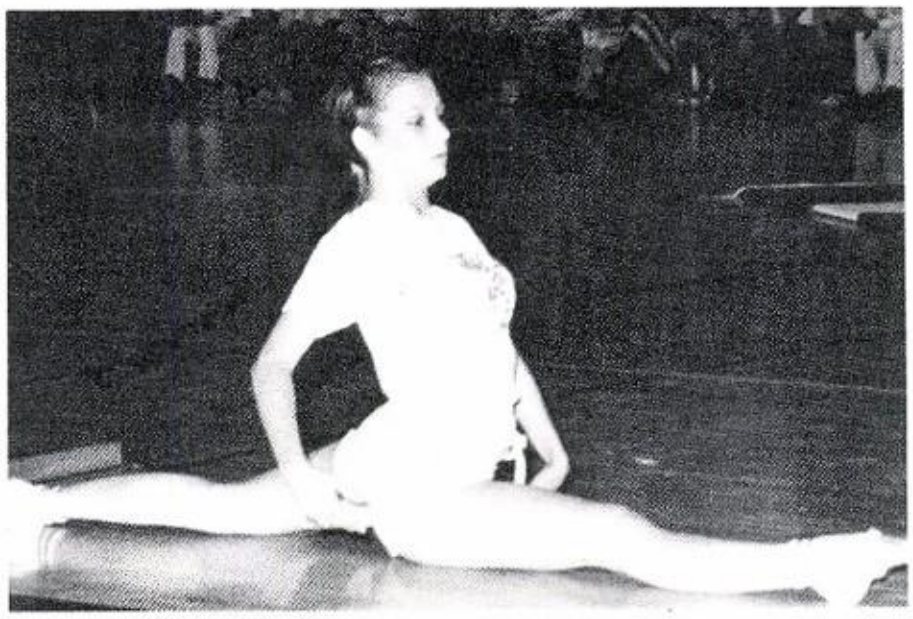
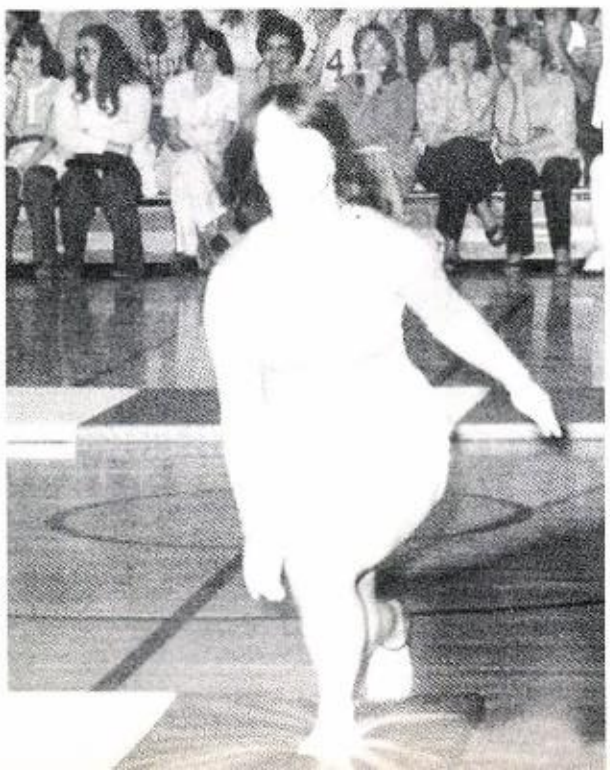
Terri finds that it's easier to stand on her hands than her feet.

TUMBLERS TRY NEW TRICKS

Tumbling is a new physical activity that has recently been added to our roster. The girls who have participated in this sport have endured backaches, pulled muscles, bumps, and bruises. Under the guidance of Coach Edd Schneider, however, these daredevils have made outstanding progress and developed talents never used before.



Tricia received the tumbling award for her outstanding work in gymnastics.



Robin is terrified at the tumbling show and runs from the audience.

GOLFERS GET GOING

Jim Kirgan, Tommy Neale, and Tom Schneider represented the Teague Lions in a successful season of golf.

COACHES ARE THE NAME OF THE GAME

This year's baseball team may not have gone to district, but they strived hard for success throughout the baseball season. They were under the direction of Coach Ricky Pack. Greg Craig was honored with the Most Valuable Player award.

Steve Hayes "We ain't got all day; throw the ball."

Luther Tatum, "Hey, you guys, wait for me!"

Darrell Brown, "Now your gonna get it."

TENNIS

Under the supervision of Coach Edd Schneider, this years tennis team proved to be successful. Lee Tilman, Amy Bogue, Cindy Manning and Cheryl Moonen won district and went on to regional. Lets hope that next years team proves to be as outstanding as this year's team.

Lee Tilman, "Yes, I missed the ball, so what?"

Missy, "Hey, serve the ball!"

The THS cheerleaders worked really hard this year. They made creative signs and led firey pep rallies. These girls were responsible for many of the Homecoming festivities.

Becoming a cheerleader is a great honor for any girl. The girls on the Varsity squad tried out in front of the student body and in front of a panel of expert judges. Jr. Varsity cheerleaders are elected by popular vote only.

The girls began practice early in the summer. The Varsity girls represented the Lions well at camp and won several honors.

It has been said that behind every strong man is a good woman. This saying also applies to cheerleaders, for indeed, behind our strong teams are our good cheerleaders!

CHEERLEADERS ARE THE HEART OF SPIRIT

1. J.V.—Kneeling, left to right; Stacy Morris (head), Gail Brown, Liza Evans. Standing, left to right: Michelle Gibson, Kelly Miller, Missy Jensen. Lisa Hull also served as alternate this year. 2. Debbie Oakes (top) and Kala Richardson smile for the camera. 3. Karri Posey served as head for the Varsity squad. 4. Cindy Raymond (mascot) and Rhonda Bozeman take time out for a picture.

5. Terri Fulton (left) and Kim Hastings pose for the camera. 6. Varsity—Front row, left to right: Debbie Oakes, Rhonda Bozeman, Terri Fulton. Middle row, left to right: Kala Richardson, Cindy Raymond, Kim Hastings. Karri Posey is on top of the pyramid.

The Teague Independent School District is very lucky to have these people working behind the scenes to improve the condition and functioning of our schools. These people are involved in making important decisions related to the best welfare of our school and our well-being. To them we say thank you for the fine schools and educational programs.

TEACHERS SMILE FOR A WHILE

1. Mr. Pick, "Eat your heart out John Travolta." 2. Mrs. Manning "hams" it up for the camera. 3. I wonder what Mrs. Shaw is thinking about? 4. "Bro." Johnson, our high school authority on taxidermy, demonstrates how to sew up a bobcat and teach biology at the same time.

OFFICE WORKERS STAY READY

The office workers are a great help to the faculty and the student body. They run errands and deliver messages. These people pick up the absentee slips and are always ready to help if they can.

LIBRARY AIDES KEEP THINGS IN ORDER

LIBRARY AIDES: Anthony Pugh, Jackie Carter, Gloria Burrell, Randy Wilson, Peggy Copeland, Lisa Burnham, Judy Foley, Mart Hartless, Patsy Copeland.

Library aides are kept busy checking out books and putting them back in place. These people are very helpful to Mr. Carey in keeping the library neat and in order.

THS STUDENTS . . .

1. Amy attended the Student Council Convention at San Antonio. 2. Pam Chaney, Kathy Copeland, Patsy Copeland, Peggy Copeland, Sheila Day, and Loy Newberry attended the Homemaking State Convention in Dallas. 3. Mark Moore and Tim Davis represented Teague High School in the Science Fair held at A&M in Bryan. 4. Amy Bogue, Cindy Manning, Cheryl Moonen, and Lee Tilman were four students who went to Regional in tennis.

JR. HIGH TOP TEN LEAD THEIR CLASS

The top ten students of the eighth grade class are very outstanding students in their academic studies. These people have strived to keep up good grades and retain some of the knowledge they have learned. Congratulations!

CHEERLEADERS PEP THINGS UP

The Jr. High cheerleaders were the faces seen smiling up at the crowds at the Jr. High football games. They were the ones who cheered for the team in victory or defeat and never lost hope for a comeback. These girls began long practices in the summer and continued to work all through the year to raise school spirit.

GIRLS' TRACK TEAM TAKES OFF RUNNING

The Jr. High track teams worked hard this year. They competed in track meets in our area and represented our school well.

On cold mornings one might see the dedicated athletes running around the ice-cold track or practicing the field events. Their startled nerves in their body shiver and cause the runners numb legs to itch. Their tired muscles and aching feet tremble from overwork. The end results of all their work reveals itself at the track meets where each gives his all and goes home either victorious or defeated.

Third row, Wylinda Johnson, Terri Crowell, Tamera Respess, Patricia Barnes, Bobby Brown, Brad Allison, Lisa Steers, Sheri Day, Kim Shaw, Leann Steen, Staci Steen. Fourth row, Wayne Williams, Traci Elliott, Martin Guerrero, Wayne Carpenter, Carl Cagle, Blane Bottoms, Jay Turner, Patricia Reece, Mary Sue Nichols, Trudy Brown, Gala Pickett. Fifth row, Jerry Vaughn, Charlie Ranson, Jennifer Bogue, Christie Collins, Tina Hastings, Sherry Sartor, Cindy Gottlieb, Cathy Wilson, Donna Morris, Annette Levels. Mr. Elrod, director, is in back. 6. Trudy: "Debbie, you mean you really ripped your jeans?"

1. Jr. High cheerleaders show a little spirit. 2. These students find the library fascinating. 3. Mr. Kennedy has his math students working on speed and accuracy. 4. Pam must have lost her mother! 5. Jr. High girls are active in the "Hee Haw Talent Show". 6. Mr. Burnim keeps his students active with various projects throughout the year. 7. Tina; "I wonder if Mrs. Kirgan will know if I copy from the book." 8. Faster than a speeding bullet, LaJuan rips down the field.

Please don't let me mess up!!

Coach Schneider shows a new dribbling technique.

EXPRESSIONS

The expressions on faces around school being many thoughts and memories to mind of people who will be back next year and of people who have walked down the halls as a student or teacher for the last time.

And as the school year ended, so do the pages of this book. They both hold memories of the good and the bad. We, the 1979 Aerial Staff hope this yearbook will preserve these memories.

You don't believe lil' ol' me did that, do ya?

Trudy and Jerry are caught doing algebra II.

Typical Sophomore?!

AERIAL SPECIFICATIONS

The 1979 Aerial was printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks of Montgomery, Alabama. The book contains 160 pages printed on 80 pound Bordeaux paper with Melior body copy in 10 point type and Melior captions in 8 point.

The standard cover is Brilliant Orange and the endsheets are orange stock.

Trim size for the book 8 ½ x 11 with smyth sewn binding. The order was for 300 copies to be sold for $12.

Underclassman pictures were supplied by Provine Studios and senior portraits were furnished by Photographic Arts and Gallery of Fort Worth.

Several sport pictures and activity pictures were purchased from the Teague Chronicle.

Advertising pictures were photographed by Mark Moore, Contemporary Images.

Many candid and group pictures were photographed by Anthony Pugh.

-Wylinda-

a very nice and beautiful young lady who seem to be getting closer and closer together in friendship as minutes pass on. I really enjoy having you as friend. Stay as you, beautiful and sweet; and I will always care about you,

Love always

Wylinda,
your my #1 Sis!
Autograph isn't fancy or written neat
its just to the point,
Thanks for being the best friend anyone could ever have Remember without each other we're just one of the crowd thanks a million for your friendship and without you have met him.
Love
Kimoneil

Dear Wylinda,
Here's a little poem for you and good luck
Deborah Lee Mahaffey
"Teddy"
"Bear"

Teddy Bear
Teddy Bear
Turn around
Teddy Bear
Touch the ground
Teddy Bear
Show your shoe
Teddy Bear
That will do
Teddy Bear
Go upstairs
Teddy Bear
Say your prayers
Teddy Bear
Turn out the light
Teddy Bear
Say good night

-Wylinda-
I'll be a long miles away
but still state get a fear Seems fun, be stay just as you are
And good luck with
